

Software Engineering Design II

Tutorial 2

In the coursework group project you will need to design and prototype an interactive system corresponding to one out of the three concepts that you will be offered.

In this week's tutorial you can start to think about the first of these concepts:

An interactive visitor guide to the local area, targeted at travelers arriving at the South Kensington underground station, to be located in the booking hall. The guide will provide information about local museums, shops, hotel accommodation and other facilities.

- (i) Produce a conceptual scenario illustrating how such a system might be used.
- (ii) Write two personas for different types of people who might use such a system.
